

BRITISH MAKE PROGRESS IN NEW ATTACK SOUTH OF SCARPE; THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IS NOT ADJOURNED IN FAYETTE

DISTRICT WORKERS CHEERED TO NEW ENTHUSIASM BY MESSAGES FROM DISTINGUISHED LEADERS

Meeting of the County Committee Made Occasion for an Enthusiastic Rally; Senators Penrose, Sproul and Beidleman, Auditor General Snyder, Mayor Babcock, S. A. Kendall and Others Deliver Stirring Addresses; Chairman Kiefer Re-elected.

A GREAT OVATION FOR STATE SENATOR CROW

The Republican party in Fayette county has not been adjourned for the forthcoming campaign, for the war nor for any other period, the fond hopes and the earnest prayers of the Democrats to the contrary notwithstanding. If any person has had doubts as to this, all such doubts would have been dissolved had they been present at the meeting of the county committee, and the rally which followed, in the court house at Uniontown on Saturday afternoon.

While the first object of the assembly of the district party workers and leaders was for the purpose of electing a county chairman, the meeting, as soon as the business part of the program was disposed of by the unanimous re-election of Chairman M. A. Kiefer, was made the occasion for the delivery of a series of crisp, heartening, inspiring and patriotic messages to the Republicans of Fayette from the lips of one of the largest groups of distinguished state and national party leaders that has ever visited this section.

These men had come to Uniontown primarily to call upon Senator W. E. Crow to felicitate him upon his recovery from a recent serious surgical operation. While paying this neighborly visit to that Fayette countian whom the Republicans of the state have been delighted to honor, the distinguished visitors were no less glad of the opportunity which brought them into close touch with the party yeomanry of the country.

Despite a heavy downpour of rain which continued throughout the day these workers came from every section of the county, filling every seat in the large courtroom and ranging about the walls and in the aisles until standing room came near being completely occupied. They were thrilled to a new enthusiasm as they listened intently and cheered lustily the stirring messages which recited the accomplishments and stated the aims, purposes and objects of the Republican party as that agency which has done so much, and will assuredly do still more, in making the world safe for Democracy and in saving the United States from the blighting influences, of a perpetuation of inefficient Democratic control in national affairs.

Senator W. C. Sproul, candidate for governor, was the first speaker. Giving expression to the happiness he felt to be in Fayette county upon the occasion of Senator Crow's first public appearance since his recent illness, Senator Sproul said that Republicans throughout the state had been much concerned about the health of their state chairman who is "everywhere recognized as one of the outstanding citizens of the state."

"I feel at home before a county convention of Republicans and particularly at this time when the candidates who came here to pay their respects to Senator Crow and to greet you, have all been workers in the ranks as you are."

"The Democrats," said Senator Sproul, "would have us believe that 'politics is adjourned.' If they mean politics as the Democrats of the administration have been playing it, it would be well to have it adjourned,

SENATOR CROW GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC AND HEARTY GREETING.

The warm place State Chairman Crow holds in the affections of the Republicans of Fayette county was given striking proof during the meeting. When the distinguished visitors, with Senator Penrose leading, filed into their places in the jury box, their appearance was the signal for a loud outburst of hand-clapping from all quarters of the large courtroom which was greatly intensified when Senator Crow, a trifle pale from his recent illness, but smiling and happy, appeared in view, leading his young son, and passed to his seat.

At every mention by the different speakers of Senator Crow's name, the audience manifested its hearty approval of the words of praise for him by continued and hearty applause. Senator Crow seemed it unwise to attempt making an address, and withdrew from the meeting shortly before the last speaker had concluded his remarks.

not only for the war but for all time. It is most important that our party organization be preserved. To win the war as it should and must be won, the Republican party should be successful. The country will need the Republican party.

PRO-GERMAN RUMORS ABOUT SAVINGS BANKS ABSURD, SAYS MADDOO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has made the following statement:

"My attention has been called to an insidious propaganda that is being carried on, probably by secret agents of Germany to sow the seeds of distrust in the minds of savings bank depositors by false rumors that the United States government is contemplating the confiscation of the savings of the people. The absurdity of these statements is manifest. In order, however, to allay the fears of the few who might be alarmed by such reports, I repeat that these rumors are wholly baseless."

RED CROSS STREET FAIR GOAL IS SET AT $5,000 CLEAR

With Favorable Weather It Is Thought That Amount Can Easily Be Realized

15 TENTS ARE NEEDED

Another Call Is for About a Dozen Rats; Volunteers to Help in the Erection of the 77 Booths Are Also Asked to Donate Their Services.

Five thousand dollars net—at least that much—is the goal for the Red Cross street fair to be held in Connellsville Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. With favorable weather and everybody putting a shoulder to the wheel it is believed that amount can easily be realized for the greatest war cause. All arrangements for the fair have been completed.

Erection of the booths—there are to be 77 of them—started this morning. A call went out for volunteers to aid in this work was well responded to. The committee having in charge this work can use 200 to 300 men. All who can aid are asked to report at fair headquarters in the Weiss building.

The fair management is in need of 15 tents. Sizes 10x12 and 12x20 are required. Persons having them are asked to call headquarters and a truck will be sent for them. They will be returned in good condition after the fair.

Another call is for rats—a dozen of them. The rodents will play a conspicuous part in one of the attractions. Ten good men, mechanics, are also asked to volunteer their services during the three evenings. Two have been secured. There will be considerable work for them.

The athletic show gives promise of being an important feature. Russell Vaughn, who is in charge, would like to hear from boxers in Connellsville, Uniontown, Scottdale and other towns.

The merry-go-round will be erected on the Frisbee lot at Peach street and Meadow Lane, in the rear of the Arlington Hotel.

The ladies of the Lutheran church are to have a popcorn booth in Crawford avenue.

The fair will be opened Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Brimstone Corner with an address by Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen. Mayor John Duggan will preside. The opening hour Friday will be 6:30 while on Saturday the big show will be open at 2 o'clock. It will close promptly at midnight, so as not to carry into Sunday.

Financial reports will be issued daily by the finance committee headed by E. T. Norton. Others on this committee are A. B. Hood, J. M. Grey, J. Fred Kurtz and R. M. Leiberger.

The war pageant which is to be staged on the Carnegie library lawn will be postponed until 10:30 o'clock in order to provide better lighting effects after complete darkness has fallen.

Five bands will add to the interest in the affair. They will be the Scottsdale, Leisentrang, Connellsville Military, Italian and colored. There will also be two drum corps.

20 COKE CARS ARE LOADED BY 53 LOCAL MEN

Citizens of This City Work at Davidson on Account of Labor Shortage.

MORE GO OUT TODAY

Erk Company Has 143 Cars of Coke Piled Up For Loading But No Men to Do the Work; Volunteers Paid $7-00 Per Car For Loading It.

Responding with alacrity and cheerfulness to the request of the H. C. Erick Coke company, which has always shown its interest in Connellsville's progress, as well as manifesting their willingness to do everything they can to help win the war, between 70 and 80 men of Connellsville have voluntarily enlisted to assist in loading stock coke at the Davidson plant. The Fuel Administration had pointed out the necessity of having this coke which accumulated last winter during the coal shortage, moved to the steel plants as quickly as possible. Superintendent Mason made this known to the men of the city who have been active in all the war agencies and a committee, consisting of Robert Norris, J. L. Evans and T. J. Hooper was at once formed to recruit a force of men.

Fifty-three of these reported at Davidson yesterday morning, worked like veterans all day and by 5 o'clock had loaded 20 cars, or the output of 235 tons. Up until noon today 15 men and Boy Scouts had reported and the expectation is that about 15 cars will be loaded today. Sandwiches and coffee was served. C. F. Belsley, the moving picture man took group and moving pictures of the loaders.

Although the loaders were not supposed to go to work until 8 o'clock yesterday morning, some were on hand at 5:45 and worked until 5 o'clock in the evening. Many of those who worked yesterday are again at the coke yards, together with others. Today being Labor Day makes it possible for many to give their services, who could otherwise not do so.

The men work whatever number of hours they wish. Some report for a half day, others for a full turn. The men are paid at the rate of 53 cents per ton or $7.00 a car. Many have signified their intention of turning their wages over to the Red Cross.

The men who reported yesterday for work were: C. G. Mitchell, D. W. Dull, J. H. Cook, R. C. Ward, James Barnes, John Campbell, Henry Hall, A. Baker, Robert Jackson, Joseph Gibbons, Dan Hibbs, Fred Strawn, Peter O'Brien, Tony Rendine, Harry Moon, J. D. Stillwagon, James Francis, Earl Kelly, L. A. Walton, A. S. Silcox, Charles Stillwagon, C. Miller, J. S. Stillwagon, A. E. Vannatta, G. R. Marietta, C. H. Basler, D. T. Hildebrand, M. Kelley, V. J. Clark, L. J. Moon, E. Otta, C. M. Balesley, D. T. Hildebrand, H. Humer Mosier, J. D. Ebert, John Enos, E. A. McVay, H. F. Rase, George Cooper, W. Johnson, R. M. Critchfield, J. L. Evans, F. A. Buttermore, William Buttermore.

General Superintendent Clay F. Lynch is expected to be on the scene this afternoon to personally convey his appreciation of the wonderful spirit displayed by the patriotic men of this city. He expressed himself this morning as being amazed at such an expression of interest, good will and desire on the part of Connellsville men to help in such emergencies.

LABOR DAY AT MEYERSDALE

Labor Day is being celebrated at Meyersdale today with a corn roast.

HOUSEWIVES MAY BUY MIXED FLOUR MONDAY WITHOUT SUBSTITUTE

The 50-50 rule affecting the sale of wheat flour, which has burdened the householder for the better part of a year and enormously increased the business of the commercial baker, came to an end yesterday. Beginning today it will be possible to purchase mixed flour, to be known as "Victory mixed flour," without substitute or straight wheat flour with twenty per cent of substitutes instead of fifty per cent as has been required.

The dealer selling standard wheat flour is required to carry in stock either barley flour, corn meal or corn flour and with every sale of straight wheat flour must sell in the proportions of four pounds of wheat flour to one pound of substitutes. No dealer may force any other combination on the consumer. Other flours, however, such as rice, potato, oat, buckwheat, peanut and sweet potato may be substituted where they are available. Pure rye flour is to be sold in the proportion of three pounds of wheat flour to two of rye. The rule limiting retailers to the sale of an eighth of a barrel (24½ pounds) of flour is rescinded.

The Food Administration requires the retailers to supply ready made flour in the following proportions: Wheat and barley, one-fifth barley; when and corn flour, one-fifth corn flour when with barley and corn flour, eight pounds of wheat to one each of barley and corn flour; whole wheat, entire wheat or Graham flour must contain 95 per cent of wheat berry. All these are to be labeled "Victory mixed flour."

The new regulations are not intended to decrease the consumption of corn bread. On the contrary, bakers are to use the normal amount of corn meal in order that the eighty per cent of the normal supply of wheat flour will suffice. Where straight wheat is sold the administration relies on the householder to make use of a substitute in the proportion of at least twenty per cent. It is expected there will be a liberal demand for the so-called "Victory"

RED CROSS NOTES

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Fayette county chapter was held at headquarters in Uniontown Wednesday afternoon August 28. New by-laws for the county chapter were adopted. These will be printed and distributed to the different auxiliaries and branches throughout the county. The new by-laws provide that the chairman of each branch shall be a member of the board of directors.

Materials for Work Rooms.
F. W. Wright director of the Bureau of Supplies requests that all branches and auxiliaries purchase their work room materials through the supply house in Connelldale. It enables them to get better prices on material than they are able to get from retail stores, and gives the director of the Bureau of Supplies a check on the work being done throughout the county. No purchase should be made of any material without first taking the matter up with supply headquarters to see if the material is on hand. The Red Cross has the privilege of purchasing material at the same rate as the Government, which means a big savings and should be taken advantage of by all working units in the county.

Benefits for Red Cross.
Attention is called to the fact that it is forbidden for any individual or individuals to hold any benefits or so-called money for or in the name of the Red Cross without first obtaining permission from the branch chairman, or secretary in the district where said money is to be raised or from the executive secretary. Blanks can be obtained from any branch chairman or secretary for this purpose, or will be mailed by the executive secretary on request. Neither can a benefit be held for, or in the name of the Red Cross and a division of the net proceeds made between the Red Cross and any other organization.

Work Room Activities.
Great work is being done in the different work rooms throughout the county during the hot summer months. There has been little if any let-down but from reports just received by the county chapter from the different branches and auxiliaries most of them expect to increase their amount of work during September. The branches and auxiliaries are just completing a three months allotment of limited articles consisting of 1000 pairs of socks, 200 sweaters and 500 sheets besides an August allotment of 400 hospital garments consisting of 120 undershirts, 720 undershirts, 780 bed shirts, 250 convalescent robes, 300 trench shippers, 1175 chemise, 75 layettes. This allotment has been completed and an additional supply of 320 towels, 200 pillow cases, 200 sheets and a large supply of comfort kits and pillows sent on to division headquarters. The September allotment for refugee and hospital garments is about 3000 articles and it is expected the county will be able to increase this allotment from month to month. The surgical dressings department has just completed a wonderful shipment for three months of thousands of dressings of all sorts.

YANKS DISLIKE FRENCH CASH

Call Greenbacks "Real Money"—Complain That France Slip Through Fingers.

Forgetting how to figure in "regular money" and learning how to calculate in "this doggon stuff" is one of the first worries of the American soldiers in France, says New York Evening Sun.

"Regular money" is good old dollars and cents, nickels, dimes and quarters.

"This doggon stuff" is the name applied to French francs, usually paper money often as low as single francs, or 20 cents for most small cities have issued local small change currency. The Americans do not like French paper money. They say it is trash, and tears, and is hard to count.

On the other hand, the French are shocked when an American crumples French paper up and shoves it in his pocket the "way they do back home." French money is to be handled in big pocketbooks and not crumpled.

"Look at some real money once," a doughboy told a merchant, and flashed a bright new silver certificate. When he crumpled it up in his fist to show how "real money can be used," the Frenchman almost fainted.

The Americans are paid almost entirely in French money and they are getting used to francs, though they all agree "a franc is so small it slips through your fingers like water."

Between Air Raids.

This is a thrilling and true story of two women who kept a "post of comfort" at Treviso, Italy, for traveling sick and wounded soldiers.

Having done some very good tenorizing by the six o'clock raids the Huns kept them up. It was such a pestiferous nuisance because we were always in the middle of cooking the evening meal! With your soldier cook and servant safe down in the cellar, it becomes your pleasing duty to run out between raids to stir the soup or put another stick of wood on the fire. With shrapnel falling all around, it is not altogether wise to go with uncovered head. We had given our two helmets to American ambulance drivers and were without any so I was obliged to wear a granite saucer on my head for these stirring parties. It was not our custom to go into a refuge. We claimed to those who expatriated that during the raids was when we were the most needed—Red Cross Magazine.

Bound to Get Into Fight.
A man giving the name of J. B. Murphy walked into the office of the Canadian recruiting mission in Boston and asked if there was room in the army for a brigadier general. The officers assured him there was and Murphy told them he was a Canadian thirty-three years old who had served in Mexico under General Orozco with the rank of brigadier general. After a physical examination he was rejected on account of web toes. Murphy said he would go to Canada and try recruiting offices there.

Do you carry enough insurance to make good your property loss in case of complete fire, or are you under insured. This is a serious question most people decide after they are victims of fire losses.

HARRY HEITMAN IS IN NAVY

Rochester and Brooklyn Clubs Given Hard Jolt When Pitcher Enlists With the Jackies

Not only Rochester of the International but Brooklyn of the National as well was hit a blow when Pitcher Harry Heitman enlisted in the navy. Heitman who was with Rochester under option from Brooklyn had been the big sensation of the International league this year. He was picked up from a high school team in Brooklyn by Ebbers and Jarrett to Rochester for seasoning. Recently Ebbers tried to get him back for the Dodgers but the Rochester club would not let him go. He set tled the controversy for himself by deciding to go to war.

Hardy Tree is the Palm
While commercial dates are successful in very restricted areas the palm is very tough and resourceful. It will actually thrive in sand in clay, adobe, peat, swamp, muck, alkaline or salty soils and generally over a wider range of conditions than almost any other plant.

Pennant for New London
New London won the pennant in the Eastern league which prematurely ended its season with 45 games won and 32 lost. Bridgeport, with 44 and 12, was second.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY NOT AD-JOURNED.

The virility, strength and militant spirit of the Republican party in Fayette county have not abated a trifle, as the gathering of the county committee in Uniontown on Saturday very conclusively demonstrated.

Having the unusual opportunity of hearing eminent state and national leaders discuss the issues of the hour, and re-state the aims, objects and purposes of the party in helping to win the war and establish a permanent and righteous peace at its conclusion, drew the district workers and leaders to the county capital in large numbers. They were thus inspired to a new enthusiasm for all those things for which the party has stood from the day of its foundation.

By the enthusiastic approval given the statements spoken in their hearing, the Republicans of the county have unmistakable proof that in the winning of the war and supporting the government to the limit in its war against autocracy and barbarism, there is no politics. This is not a party war, otherwise the Republicans in Congress would have not willingly, generously and patriotically come to the relief of the President and made it possible for him to secure legislative approval of the necessary war measures. Republicans in civil life have stood behind the President with a unanimity hitherto unknown in the history of nations.

To the extent that Republicans would retire from the field and permit the election of Democrats without opposition, the President would very much like to see politics adjourned.
But there is more-urgent need than ever before in the history of the country for Republican principles. Republican men and Republican works.
These have been absolutely essential during the progress of the war to date, and will be indispensable in the closing stages of the war and still more indispensable in the days and years that will follow a conclusion of peace.

Instead of the Republican party being adjourned in Pennsylvania, where so much of effort, skill, material and riches in young manhood have been given to make the winning of the war a certainty, there must be even greater activity among all those citizens who, having the least interest in the whole country, not a section of a party, at heart, would place in public leadership men whose principles and policies will insure that desires of national prosperity following the war, which will enable the country to pay off the billions of war debt without burdensome exactions upon either people or industries, and carry our nation forward to that place of importance it must assume among the governments of the world.

"And so," said Senator Spruill wisely said, "we will not adjourn politics just now. We will make our politics better."

Republicans of Fayette county have graciously the same view of it in their determination to prevent the perpetuation of inefficient Democratic control in national affairs, while preserving in Pennsylvania that leadership which has made this great com-

A LABOR DAY MESSAGE

By W. R. WILSON,
Secretary of Labor.

This Labor Day finds America at the greatest crisis in history. The Nation is engaged in the greatest war the world has ever seen, and upon the results of this war will depend the fate of humanity for centuries.

We have sent a great Army abroad to cooperate with the armies of our allies. Our Navy is clearing the seas of the German submarines. Our men in blue and khaki have won glory by many heroic deeds; they have helped to inflict upon the foe a crushing defeat which, we hope, may prove the turning point of the war.

But whether it does prove such depends as much upon those who remain at home as upon those who go abroad to fight. We have no fears for our soldiers in France, provided we can keep them well fed, well clothed and properly equipped; they have already shown themselves more than the equal of the Kaiser's best troops.

Upon this day, of all days, we must consider seriously the problem before us at home. We must maintain our armies in the field at the top-notch fighting strength, and we must supply the needs of our allies and the starving people of Belgium.

This is a day on which Labor must consecrate itself to a great task—the task of winning the war. For this tremendous duty half-measures will not suffice. There must be absolute loyalty and devotion to the Nation's cause—these, I believe, our people have already shown beyond a question. But more than this, there must be a clear understanding of the great need, and a new determination to gratify it.

Maximum production is the goal for which we must strive. With every workman giving his utmost strength and will power, we shall attain it. The task will not be easy, nor the effort small; but we have no choice. To save all that we hold dear, we must work, work for the boys in France and the allies. One phrase sums it up: "Work as you would be fought."

The coal miners are doing that. They have produced the greatest amount of coal in history, despite the heavy loss of men through enlistment. Such deeds as these show the spirit that animates our people and have served as examples to stimulate the whole great body of Americans to nobler tasks.

The glory of it all is that labor has visualized the needs of our armies and our peoples and its own relation to those necessities. Labor accepts that responsibility enthusiastically, loyally. With our splendid Army on the battle fields of Europe, reinforced by an efficient industrial army in America, militarism is doomed to defeat. Democracy will be triumphant on earth.

monwealth the mainstay of the nation in the present as also in all the great crises of the nation's history.

The Fuel Administration has introduced to the coke operators the increasing game of "quality up or prices down."

The Scottdale offices of the H. C.
Frick Coke company may well be proud that it has furnished its full quota of Soldiers of Civilization, both in number and fighting spirit.

Many automobile owners no doubt admired the Sunday gasoline saving rule as a means of enabling them to increase their missionary offerings for the day.

Uniontown went overwhelmingly Republican Saturday just to show what the county, the 23rd district and the state will do in November.

The Courier takes this occasion to express its appreciation of the neighborliness of the News and the Press Printing company in the substantial assistance given during the breakdown of power supply on Saturday. We hold ourselves very willing and ready to reciprocate the favor but trust neither of our friends in the craft will suffer the same misfortune The Courier did.

Nothing would please the Democrats better than for the Republican party to adjourn sine die, but there is no doubt that it will adjourn, die, or do anything else than elect its full ticket this fall win the war, then lick the Democrats, as Auditor General Sayler aptly said at the Uniontown rally.

The Courier practiced compulsory power conservation Saturday.

AFFLICTED FRANCE.

The war has knocked things out of plumb; our comforts go, privations come. But let us not grow discouraged, and think of France. It costs a lot to buy our rice, our succotash and prunes and ice, but let us promptly pay the price, and think of France. Our citizens are starving at their stoves; no bombs drop in and spoil our nights;
to sleep and fret we have no rights—let's think of France. There is no stranger on our shore to point the landscape red with gore and make some baby Bertha roar, but think of France! When I'm inclined to droop and mope, and lose my hold on faith and hope, discouraged by some splier's dope, I think of France. Some old time luxury I miss, some vanished comfort spoils my bliss; and then I hoot myself and hiss, and think of France. I hear men growl, with accented feet; they find it hard to make ends meet, and then my message I repeat,
"Oh, think of France!" I hear dancers hum a cheery tune because they grumble here and there, and I remark,
"Oh, ladies fair, pray think of France!" Our ills are trifling things and brief, in one short hour they are relief; if we would know the soul of grief, we'll think of France.

THE REWARD.

When the bitter strife is done,
When the last grim fight is won,
We shall gather freedom's roses
In the sun of happy June;
We shall meet and smile together
In the fairest sort of weather;
We shall form the old-time circles
And shall sing our merry tunes.

We shall tread the velvet clover
In a world that's been made over;
We shall find the dreary places
By using a cheery smile;
Men and women will be neighbors
As they bend unto their labors,
And the years for all our children
Will be very much worth while.

It was ours with hate to battle,
Ours to hear the cannons rattle,
Ours to give our sons to sea,
Ours to keep the flag on high;
And when war no longer wages,
To the children of the ages
We shall hand down freedom's riches
In the glorious bye and bye!

The Kaiser as I Knew Him For Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1912, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

According to some of the German officers with whom I spoke, even if we landed 2,000,000 men in France it would not be enough to break the deadlock, as the Germans were taking a similar number of troops from the Russian front. The only menace of American participation in the war lay in the possibility that we might add considerably to the allied air strength. Man power alone, they contended, would never be sufficient to help the allies much, but overwhelming superiority in the air might occasion the Germans some annoyance.

The Kaiser himself had but a poor opinion of the fighting qualities of the American soldier so far as modern war requirements are concerned.

"The American soldier would possibly give a good account of himself in open fighting," he declared, "but he is not built for the kind of warfare he will encounter in France. He lacks the stolidity to endure life in the trenches. He is too high-strung and couldn't stand the inactive life which is such an important part of modern warfare. Besides, he lacks discipline and trained officers."

CHAPTER IX.

The Kaiser's Plan for World Dominion.
The history of modern Germany is, perhaps, in itself sufficient indication of the underlying plan of the Teutonic war barons to control the whole of Europe and, eventually, the world. The program has been slowly unfolding itself since the time of Frederick the Great and the present generation is now witnessing what was intended to be the climax.

There can be no doubt that if Germany had succeeded in her efforts to gain control of the major part of Europe she would have soon looked toward the western hemisphere and the east.

This program is fairly indicated by the course of events as history lays them bare, but I have the actual word of the Kaiser to substantiate it.

At one of his visits to me shortly after the beginning of the war we were discussing England's participation in it.

"What hypocrites the English are!" the Kaiser exclaimed.

"They had always treated me so well when I visited them I never believed they would have come into this war. They always acted as if they liked me. My mother was English, you know. I always thought the world was big enough for three of us and we could keep it for ourselves—that Germany could control the continent of Europe, England, through her vast possessions and fleet, could control the Mediterranean and the far east, and America could dominate the western hemisphere."

How long it would have been before Germany would have tried to wrest dominion from England can readily be imagined, and with the whole of Europe and the far east under her thumb America would undoubtedly have proved too tempting a morsel for the Kaiser's or his descendants' rapacious maw to have resisted. He said that he believed that the world was "big enough for three," he didn't say it was too big for one.

What was really in his mind, however, is indicated by a passage in an address he made some twenty-five years ago, in which, as Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis has pointed out, he used these words:

"From my childhood I have been under the influence of five men—Alexander, Julius Caesar, Theodor, II, Napoleon and Frederick the Great. These five men dreamed their dream of a world empire; they failed. I am dreaming my dream of a world empire, but I shall succeed!"

The Kaiser's plan to dominate Europe included the control of Turkey, and he made every effort to strengthen that country so that she might be a valuable ally in the war to come.

When Italy took Tripoli from Turkey before the Balkan war I mentioned to the Kaiser how opportunely Italy had acted, but the Kaiser dismissed my remark with an exclamation of displeasure, realizing, of course, that Turkey's loss was in a sense his own since he had planned to make Turkey his vassal.

To that end he had sent German officers to train the Turkish army and had supplied them with guns and munitions. With an eye to the future, too, he had constructed the great Baghdad railway.

When the Balkan war broke out in 1912 the Kaiser had great confidence that the German-trained Turkish army would acquit itself creditably and that in the outcome of that conflict his European program would make considerable progress. He told me that he had a map of the war area placed in his motor and that with him he followed the fortunes of the fighting armies while he was traveling.

The Turkish defeats were naturally a great disappointment to him.

"These Montenegrins, Serbians and Bulgarians are wonderful fighters," he confessed to me, shortly after the war began. "They're out-of-door people and they have the strength and stamina which fighters require. If they keep on the way they're going they'll be in Constantinople in a week! Confound those Turks! We furnished them guns and ammunition and trained their officers, but if they won't fight we can't make them. We've done our best!"

The defeat of the Turks lessened their value to the Kaiser as an ally and he immediately put into effect a measure for increasing the German standing army from 650,000 to 800,000—to restore the balance of power, they said. For this purpose a "Wehrbeitrag," or increased armament tax, was levied on capital and, incidentally, I was informed that I would have to pay my share. The idea of paying a tax to uphold the German army, which was already so powerful that it menaced the peace of the world, did not appeal to me at all and I spoke to Ambassador Gerard about it. He advised me to pay it under protest, agreeing with me that there was no reason why an American should be required to contribute to the German war budget. However, I had to pay it.

The German efforts at colonization, which were more or less of a failure because the Germans refused to inhabit the German possessions, and the measures adopted to conquer the commercial markets of the world were an important part of the program of world domination which Germany planned for herself, and it is not unlikely that if she had continued her efforts along those lines she might have progressed further along her chosen path than she has advanced by basking the world in blood.

"I have nearly 70,000,000 people," the Kaiser said to me on one occasion, "and we shall have to find room for them somewhere. When we become an empire England had her hands on nearly everything. Now we must fight to get ours. That is why I am developing our world markets, just as your country secured Hawaii and the Philippines as stepping stones to the markets of the far east, as I understand it. That's why I developed the wonderful city of Kiao-Chau."

His plans in this connection were changed somewhat apparently by the developments of the present war, for he told me that when it was over the Germans would not emigrate to the United States any more.

"No more American emigration for us after the war," he said. "My people will settle in the Balkans and develop and control that wonderful country. I have been down there and I know it is a marvelous land for our purposes."

The Kaiser's vision of the part he would take in the reconstruction of stricken Europe was indicated by a remark he made to me in 1916 when I was visiting him at the army headquarters at Pless.

"Here I am nearly sixty years of age," he soliloquized, "and must rebuild the whole of Europe!"

Although the Kaiser so freely admitted his designs on the world at large, he was impatient of any expansion on the part of other nations. He often spoke of England's "grabbing" propensity and viewed with suspicion our annexation of Hawaii and the Philippines and our development of Cuba after the Spanish-American war. He professed to see in our new policy a striving after world power which was inconsistent with the principles upon which our government was founded.

He objected to our interference in Mexican affairs, although, as was disclosed by the Zimmerman note to Von Eckhardt, he was making every effort to have Mexico interfere with ours.

"What right has President Wilson to attempt to dictate the internal policies of Mexico?" he asked. "Why not let them fight their battles out alone?"

Alluding to America's threat to enter the present war, he asked: "What right has America to insist upon the Monroe doctrine of America and then mix in European affairs? Let her recognize also a Monroe doctrine of Europe and keep her hands off of this conflict!"

There is no doubt that the Kaiser imagined that the great army and navy he had built up would enable him to carry out his ambitious program without effective resistance.

The one power he most feared but for which he professed the utmost contempt was England. He had an idea that England would never dare to measure swords with Germany and that he could provoke a war when the opportune moment came without much fear of England's intervention.

In 1911, when the international situation over the Moroccan affair was particularly acute as a result of Germany's having sent a gunboat to Agadir to demonstrate that she was serious in her demands, the Kaiser had great hopes that war with France might thus be precipitated and he was confident that England would keep out of it.

"England would be afraid to war with us," he told me at the time, "for fear of losing Egypt, India and Ireland. Any nation would think twice before fighting my armies, but England particularly because she would not dare risk the loss of her overseas colonies."

When the Kaiser's ambitious project to dominate the world is considered, his consistent opposition to the universal disarmament proposals is easily understood. Without a superior army and navy, his whole plan would have to be abandoned and his dream of world-wide domination would be shattered.

On one occasion when we were discussing the Carnegie peace efforts, the Kaiser disclosed very positively just where he stood on the proposition. "Look at the history of the nations of the world," he declared. "The only nations which have progressed and become great have been warring nations. Those which have not been ambitious and gone to war have amounted to nothing!"

Shortly after Wilson had pointed the way to peace in Europe in one of his notes to all the belligerent powers the Kaiser called to see me professionally and we discussed that latest phase of the situation.

"The way to peace now seems perfectly clear," I ventured. "Only your majesty's ever-increasing army and navy stands in the way. If Germany will give up her armament, it seems, we would soon have peace."

"That is out of the question for Germany," replied the Kaiser, decisively. "We have no mountains like the Pyrenees to protect us. We have the open plains of Russia with their vast hordes, endangering us. No; we shall remain armed to the teeth forever!"

At the Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"SAY YOUNG FELLOW."—The admirers of Douglas Fairbanks will find this photoplay to be one of the most delightful of the Fairbanks series. In this splendid picture he portrays a chole of an optimistic smiling and brave newspaper reporter who does some remarkable athletic feats in the performance of his reportorial functions. He scales walls and houses, vaults over flower beds and fences like a deer, battles fiercely against heavy odds with some factory employees and with the aid of "the girl," overcomes the machinations of the villain.

ARCADE THEATRE.

The attraction at the Arcade this week is one of the best that has been at that theatre in the last year. The name speaks for itself as to the character of the show. It is positively the best aggregation of its kind on the stage today. The whole plot is interspersed with snappy songs and fantastic, but perfectly clean dancing. The public may be sure that in seeing Play's Hawaiian Folies it will not be in the least disappointed and will agree that it is the best and cleanest show that has been at this popular playhouse for some time. On the screen will be seen the second episode of the "House of Hate."

7 A DAY FOR 7 DAYS

Don't blame the man who is perpetually tired; his blood needs more red corpuscles and his brain and nerves are craving for food.

Given the right kind of medicine, any tired-out, inactive, lagging man can quickly be made into a real live, energetic and even ambitious man.

So says a student of the nervous system who advises all men and women who feel worn out and who find it hard to get up ambition enough to take a regular job to get a package of Bio-feron at any drugist.

This is the new discovery that pharmacists are recommending; because it is not expensive and speedily puts vigor and ambition into people who despair of ever amounting to anything in life.

People whose nerves have been wrecked by too rapid living, too much tobacco or alcohol, have regained their old-time confidence and energy in less than two weeks.

No matter from what cause your nerves went back on you; no matter how run down, nervous or tired out you are, get an original package of Bio-feron at once. Take two tablets after each meal and one before bedtime—seven a day for seven days—then one after each meal till all are gone.

Then if you still lack ambition; if your nerves are not steady and you haven't the energy that red-blooded, keen-minded men possess, your purchase money will be gladly returned.

FINAL REDUCTIONS WOMEN'S APPAREL

Coats, Suits and Dresses—the very cream of a stock which has won generous praise from scores of Connelville's best dressed women. Prices seem ridiculously low, but our fixed policy of never carrying any merchandise from one season to the next is directly responsible. It is your good fortune, and the opportunity should be grasped immediately. Many styles are quite conservative, differing little from those for Fall, while the quality is of that good, old-time standard so difficult to obtain today.

One Lot Suits, $25 to $39.75 Values, $9.75
One Lot Suits, $45 to $75.00 Values, $14.95

Both silk and wool Suits in all the more notable colors and styles of the present season. Think of saving over $50.00 on a Suit! Doesn't seem possible—but it is. If ever quick—not prompt—but QUICK—action was advisable, this certainly is the time. There will be all sizes here for those who come first.

One Lot Dresses, Values to $25, Choice $6.95

Savings that amount in some instances to almost $20.00. Variety too, for in the lot are beautiful late season styles in voile, net, taffeta, crepe de chine, serge and combinations. Several dozens in the lot—with all sizes present—and every dress an extraordinary bargain.

One Lot School Dresses REDUCED ONE FOURTH

Very neat little models in gingham and other serviceable materials. Solid colors, checks and plaids. Our prices for the finished garments less than materials alone of an equal quality would cost today—and no bother to mothers of cutting and making. All sizes 2 to 14 years. Were $1.25 to $5.50. Now 94c to $4.55.

One Lot School Coats REDUCED ONE HALF

Summer Coats to be sure, but most of them are sufficiently heavy for first Fall wear and of a quality at least equal to any you can buy. There are many colors, and a wide range of styles but none of them overdone or too elaborate for school wear. Lucky the mother who reads this little advertisement and secures one of these Coats at such a saving. Were $2.50 to $10.00. Now $1.25 to $5.00.

CLEMENCEAU VISITS YANKS IN BATTLE OF CHATEAU THIERRY

One of the first photographs of the actual battle of Chateau Thierry, in which the gallant American soldiers successfully stopped, defeated and drove back the German hordes, is here presented and shows Premier Clemenceau, in civilian attire, and General Mordacq at his right, surrounded by the American fighters of the battle, viewing the remains of the annihilated German troops.

Rich Fishing Ground.

What are termed the reef waters along the north and northeast of Honduras form one of the rich fishing grounds of the world. The region begins about 100 miles east of Cuba and extends around some distance south of Cape Gracias a Dios. This is all more or less shallow water, forming one great coral reef with a number of small keys extending up above the surface of the water and forming small islands. It is thus an ideal fish and turtle ground.

Valuable Thermometer.

A new quick-acting thermometer, claimed to take ten measurements a second, depends on the varying electrical resistance of a very fine wire of 65 parts of platinum and 35 of iridium. The wire can be used up to 1,850 degrees C. and a galvanometer connected in a circuit indicates the resistance and the temperature. The instrument is especially adapted for measuring the temperature changes in the cylinders of steam or explosion engines.

Love Letters in Hymn Book.

A pair of lovers who had been forbidden to speak or write, attended the same church, and their plan was the exchange of hymn books. As the young man was an officer of the church he did this little job before service. Most delightful and satisfactory love letters could be placed together by following certain lead-pencil marks, and in order to elude even a Sherlock Holmes of the household, the letters were made to read from the end to the beginning of the book.
